

BrianQuackenbush.com Newsletter

February 21, 2007

Hello and welcome to the BrianQuackenbush.com Newsletter. Many of you are members of the original mailing list which hasn't been active for a while. Others are friends and family who I thought would be interested.

The purpose of the BrianQuackenbush.com Newsletter is simply to keep everyone updated on my golf career. My website, BrianQuackenbush.com, is still up and running complete with regular news updates, schedule, detailed results, statistics and other features. The Newsletter is in response to requests from people for news "right into my email inbox".

It's a private Newsletter which means that I won't ever give your email address to anybody else. You can unsubscribe at any time using the link at the bottom of this message. Also, feel free subscribe your friends.

I envision the Newsletter to be a semi-monthly issue containing a "digest" form of news stories for the two weeks as well as special announcements.

Thank you for your support. I look forward to sending out a lot of great news throughout the season

Brian
